

Shaman's Fringe Mask

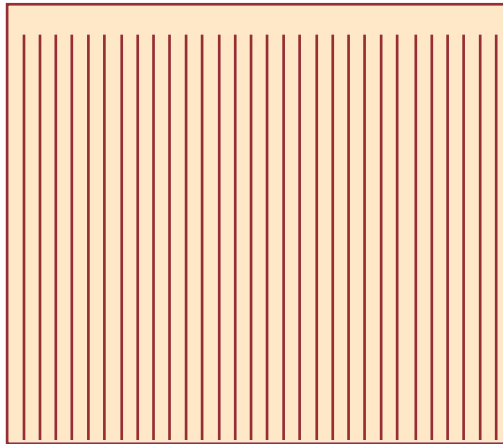

The strap needs to be long enough to go around the head and tie, snap or velcro.

The forehead area of the mask could be leather or cloth which could be painted or beaded.

This piece needs to be wide enough to go from temple to temple. Approximately 6"-7" long.

The fringe can be of soft leather, twisted cord or yarn with beads at the bottom, or made entirely of many long strings of beads.

The fringe needs to be at least long enough to cover the eyes but can also be made long enough to cover the entire face.

The 3 elements of the fringe mask are shown separately in the above diagram.
The elements of the mask may be made as separate pieces --using similar or different materials-- or even made from one large piece of soft leather.
